As caring and compassionate family law

attorneys, Sara Horowitz, Katie Varsegi and Emerald Williams help their clients navigate emotionally challenging issues from divorce and prenuptial agreements to child custody and adoptions.

“We stay focused on what’s best for our clients and their families,” says Horowitz, one of the three founding partners of HVW Law Group, which has offices in Boca Raton and Coral Springs.

The attorneys pride themselves on their passion for zealous advocacy. All three are experienced litigators who are confident asserting their clients’ rights in the courtroom. But they also strive to resolve marital and child custody disputes in a way that protects the interests of the client’s children and financial assets, utilizing collaborative principles.

“We handle many highly complex divorce matters for high-net-worth clients,” says Varsegi. “In every case, we listen to our clients, identify their goals and develop a customized strategy.”

As mothers themselves, the attorneys understand the importance of balancing the interests of children, parents and careers, adds Williams.

“We are very much in touch with the needs of today’s parents, including women who are the primary breadwinners in the family, and clients who are successful in the business world, including entrepreneurs and business owners.”

Horowitz, Varsegi and Williams founded HVW Law Group in 2017 after beginning their legal careers in marital and family law in both the public and private sectors. They met early in their careers, prior to joining the private sector, where they all served the State of Florida as trial attorneys working with children and families on cases of child abuse, abandonment and neglect.

“We have been on the front lines of family law and bring that wealth of experience to every case,” says Williams. “If you are considering divorce, you should do your homework and look at your options. Whether you are a successful executive or a stay-at-home parent, you should feel comfortable choosing an attorney who can best protect your family and your assets.”
